

Case Study

Distribution of 2 large studies in 40 countries

Client

Actelion Pharmaceuticals Ltd have chosen Creapharm as a partner since 2003. Actelion is a biopharmaceutical company for which we have managed some forty studies in Europe. They recently entrusted us with the distribution of 2 new large international studies.

Issues

2 packaging runs had to be planned the first year, one in September and the other one in early 2010. They included various semi finished batches.

The distribution will reach 40 countries and 186 centers. It will extend over 42 months and it should involve about 6000 shipments to sites.

Problem Solving

CREAPHARM had already a long experience to delivering IMPs to investigation centers in all European countries and worldwide. It has been in a position to meet the Client's challenge thanks to its structured network of GDP depots capable of organizing local distribution to investigational centers.

CREAPHARM is the central hub and the "control watch" of the whole project.

Depots are in charge of importations, storage, local distribution and eventual returns and destruction

Outcomes

After a set up period, the study began in December 2009 (1st inclusion in Israel).

Then areas such as Asia, Europe, North and South America and Australia are following.

Customer's testimony

Creapharm has met our expectations (delay, quality, prices). The necessary Resources have been rightly put in place...

Through their commitment, the complex distribution of the two international studies is now successfully underway and Creapharm is in position to be one of our "main suppliers."
